COMMUNITY CENTRE OPENED

Lady of the Lake, Lindsay Ritchie, snips the ribbon to officially open the city's new $1,120,000 community centre with the help of Mayor Hilbert Roth at special ceremonies Saturday. Some 150 people attended the formal opening program at 2 p.m., which included musical entertainment by the Dr. Knox school band and dancing demonstrations by the Kelowna Wagon Wheelers. Entertainment highlight was provided by Vancouver pianist-accompanist Ricky Mann. Presentation of a key to the complex was made to Mayor Roth from architect consortium representative Gordon Hartley, who was in turn presented with the key by contractor Leo Douillard. Program emcee was building committee chairman Ald. Richard Stewart. Other dignitaries attending included Progressive Conservative MP George Whittaker, and city aldermen W. C. Green, Gwen Holland, W. J. C. Kane and alderman-elect William Treadgold. Complex facilities were displayed by members of the city recreation department, with tour guides provided by the Kelowna Gym Club.

Astronauts Clean House For Tuesday Splashdown

HOUSTON (CP) — With the major space exploits behind them, the Apollo 17 astronauts performed last-minute packing and housekeeping chores today in preparation for their homecoming.

Astronauts Eugene Cernan, Harrison Schmitt and Ronald Evans were on course for a splashdown in the South Pacific at 2:24 p.m. EST Tuesday. Their ship America was operating perfectly.

The astronauts, on their last full day in space and after a night's rest, had to stow equipment, review checklists and clean up the command ship. The spacemen also had to secure their record cargo of moon rocks, three canisters of film and other science treasures gathered during the 13-day mission to the moon.

In the last major exploit of the mission, Evans made a 44-minute walk in deep space Sunday to retrieve film canisters from a part of the ship which won't return to earth and bring them to the safety of America's cabin.

With the moon behind, the earth ahead and black, star-spangled space around him, Evans floated out of the spacecraft at the end of a 25-foot lifeline and inched his way back to an outside storage compartment.

The film contained data and photographs gathered by an array of electronic instruments and cameras during more than six days of orbiting the moon.

Evans laughed and sang and called out to his family on earth 180,000 miles away who watched the space walk by television.

"Hi, Jan, Hi, Jaime, Hi, Jon," he said, waving with one hand while holding to a rail with the other.

His wife, Janet, shouted back to the television set she was watching at home: "Hey, honey, don't fall!"

Apollo 17 will splash down 400 miles southeast of Samoa. Good weather was forecast and the prime recovery ship, the "Udorn", was on station and waiting for return of the spacemen.

Mission Control told the astronauts their spacecraft was so perfectly aimed that a planned course correction on Sunday was not needed. Another course correction rocket burn, if needed, was scheduled for 4:11 p.m. today.

At least seven persons died in weekend accidents in British Columbia, including two pedestrians struck by cars during a heavy rainstorm in Vancouver Friday night.

Police said Lucien Blaine, 65, and George Kariya, 85, both of Vancouver, were killed when struck by cars in separate incidents.

Mary Phillips, 45, and her 14-year-old son Allan, both of Nanaimo, were killed in a two-car crash on the Island Highway near Ladysmith Saturday, and Michael Craig Carmichael, 20, of West Vancouver died in a two-car crash in West Vancouver Saturday.

The body of 17-year-old Samuel Johnson was recovered from rocks in the Queen Charlotte Strait Saturday. Johnson had taken his father's fishing boat out Friday from Alert Bay. The damaged boat was found nearby.

RCMP have not released the name of a man killed when a cabin about 15 miles north of Fort St. John was destroyed by fire Saturday night.

A Vernon jury has found two men guilty on a reduced charge of manslaughter in the Aug. 16 death of Roger Hamel of Windfield.

George Wilson and Leonard Douder were brought to trial in Vernon charged with first-degree murder but after four hours of deliberation Friday the jury returned a verdict of guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

Scheduling of the trial was scheduled for Wednesday of this week.

Davis To Split His Department

OTTAWA (CP) — Environment Minister Jack Davis announced today he will reorganize his department Jan. 1, breaking it down into two primary divisions: fisheries and marine services and environmental services.

Under the reorganization, which reduces the department's complement of assistant deputy ministers by two, K. C. Lucas, 43, former assistant deputy minister for the environmental protection service, will become senior assistant deputy minister of fisheries and marine services.

Jean Lupien, 49, senior assistant deputy minister since the department was formed 18 months ago, will become senior assistant deputy minister of environmental services.

Mr. Lucas will be responsible for ocean-oriented activities such as oceanography and fisheries research, development and operations, while other elements of the department will come under Mr. Lupien's jurisdiction.

Swedish Team To Tour Interior

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — The British Columbia Junior A Hockey League Sunday approved plans for a spring tour of cities in the league by the Swedish National Junior team.

The league gave the green light for the tour of exhibition games at a meeting in Kamloops.

The Swedish team, which beat Russia for the European Junior Championship earlier this year, would arrive about March 17th to begin the series of games against BCHL clubs.

An anonymous donor has agreed to put up the necessary $26,000 to guarantee the tour by Sweden, which has been approved by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the International Ice Hockey Federation.

Postal Workers Receive Report

IRA Strategist Goes Underground

DUBLIN (AP) — David O'Connell, considered the top strategist for the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army, was reported today to have gone underground after fleeing police agents.

Sources said three carloads of special branch agents surrounded a club in central Dublin Sunday night as O'Connell and other leaders of Sinn Fein, the Provisionals' political arm, addressed a meeting.

O'Connell, a 26-year-old teacher reputed to have been wounded six times in guerrilla raids several years ago, is the vice-president of Sinn Fein and regarded as one of the Provisionals' political brains.

The reported swoop was the first apparent attempt by Irish Republican authorities to pick up any of the Provisionals' hierarchy in the Republic since tough new anti-IRA legislation was passed in parliament last month amid a government crackdown on the underground movement.

It was the first time the Sinn Fein leadership had appeared together in public since the legislation was passed Dec. 3.

Although the IRA is illegal in the Republic, Sinn Fein is recognized as a legal political group.

Would Mean $4.19 Minimum On A Contract Until 1975

OTTAWA (CP) — Wage increases of 65 cents an hour over a contract lasting until Dec. 31, 1974, are recommended for postal workers by the majority report of a conciliation board dealing with the contract dispute between postmen and the government.

The report, released today, is signed by chairman Owen Shime and union nominee William Walsh of the three-man conciliation board.

A minority report, prepared by government nominee Bruce Stewart, suggests wage increases that would amount to raises of about 10 cents an hour less than those in the majority study.

The report also calls for introduction of a third party into consultations to help them reach agreement on controversial issues.

The wage recommendations would raise the maximum wages for letter carriers to $4.19 an hour, 15 months after ratification of the contract. Postal clerks wages would reach a maximum of $4.34 an hour.

Average wages of the 28,000 members of the Council of Postal Unions bargaining unit stood at $3.66 an hour at the end of the previous contract which expired March 26, 1972.

SOUGHT 66 CENTS — The majority recommendations are closer to the union's wage position which originally asked for a 66-cent-an-hour wage boost in a 15-month contract.

The government's last public offer was for a 13-per-cent wage increase over a three-year contract.

The report also suggests retroactive pay dating back to the expiry date of the previous contract of $400, or 25 cents an hour in pay.

Mr. Stewart, stating in the minority report that the Canadian public is paying "a high price for their postal services," says serious attention must be given to the wage levels now being proposed.

He said that postal workers bring no skills to their job and little on-the-job training is needed except for some highly skilled sorters.

Mr. Stewart said that average manufacturing industry employees now are paid $3.59 an hour, and the proposed rate that will put some letter carriers up to $4.19 an hour during the term of the contract are "questionable."

He recommends rates for letter carriers of $4.10 an hour beginning on the second anniversary of the contract.

"I want to emphasize that any dissent does not necessarily mean a call to arms; it will be up to the employer to determine whether my concerns are serious enough to warrant rejection of the report and all that rejection may imply," he says.

The recommendations of the conciliation board need not be accepted by either party to the negotiations, and the union membership must now decide to accept or reject terms suggested by the report.

The majority report notes that the government has agreed to reconfirm a guarantee of no lay-offs for employees in the bargaining unit which was first made in September, 1970.

ceasefire throughout Indochina and all American prisoners had been released by Hanoi.

Defence Secretary Melvin Laird made the first Washington announcement of the lifting of restrictions.

"Air operations are being conducted throughout North Vietnam at the present time," Laird told reporters.

The defence secretary refused to go into any details of air operations because, he said, he wanted to avoid endangering the lives of American air crews.

Laird briefly acknowledged the lifting of bombing restrictions on North Vietnam two days after Dr. Henry Kissinger, chief U.S. peace negotiator and President Nixon's security adviser, had reported negotiations toward a ceasefire were at a impasse.

Kissinger blamed the North Vietnamese for coming up with what he called "frivolous" proposals and changing their positions on issues he felt had been resolved.

The sale or transfer of city grave plots to anyone but a city resident is banned from next May 31 and welfare services will be withdrawn from Brockhurst and Westside March 31.

User rates will be increased with an eye to making it too costly for outlying residents to use city recreation facilities, and the city's sanitary landfill and ambulance services will be restricted to city residents almost immediately.

"The intent is not to force amalgamation," said Kamloops Mayor Gordon Noyl. "It's time we started paying attention to our own affairs as many people have suggested we should."

The neighbouring communities are still trying to determine the implications and costs.

Youth Shot During Break-In Reported In Good Condition

DELTA, B.C. (CP) — A 16-year-old youth, shot in an arm during a weekend break-in at a service station, was reported in good condition in hospital today.

Delta police, who have ordered a full investigation, said today the youth was shot when Constable Fred Hammond and slipped and his gun accidentally discharged while he was arresting the youth early Saturday.

The youth is charged with breaking and entering and theft. A second man allegedly involved, Douglas James Davidson, 19, also has been charged with breaking and entering and theft.

Police said two police cars answered a call to a Delta service station early Saturday and surprised two suspects. Constable Hammond drew his revolver to fire a warning shot but decided against it because the station is located in a residential area.

A police spokesman said the officer was holding the gun at his side when he slipped and fell on ice and the gun accidentally discharged.

ECM Workers Back On Job

BRUSSELS (Reuter) — Eight thousand European Common Market civil servants returned to work today after a week's strike as their union leaders suspended the stoppage for two days.

A union spokesman said a decision on whether to continue the strike, which started last Monday because of a pay dispute, will be made Wednesday.

The spokesman said the decision will depend on results of talks later today with Dutch Foreign Minister Norbert Schmelzer, current president of the EEC's council of ministers.

Kelowna Arena Out Of Action

The Kelowna Memorial Arena is still out of action today following a power breakdown Saturday about 9 p.m.

Arena facilities co-ordinator Gordon Smith, attributed the power outage to a breakdown in a 440-volt outside line feeding the building's main electrical supply, adding he hoped repairs could be completed late today.

The power failure occurred at the start of a scheduled hockey game, but play was allowed to continue after the trouble line was isolated to allow the ice plant to operate on two electrical phases instead of the normal three. Mr. Smith said arena lighting was automatically switched to an auxiliary power source.

The outage forced cancellation of all Sunday activities as well as today's programming. No cause for the breakdown to the 24-year-old power line has been reported at press time.

Communities Face Loss Of Services

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Five years ago when Kamloops restrictions on buying grave plots.

Kamloops Mayor Gordon Noyl said the city is not trying to force amalgamation, but Dufferin Mayor Roy Patridge, among others, says the city is trying to lean on the smaller communities in a way that recalls the bargaining tactics of gangster Al Capone—a cement pair of pyramas.

Mr. Patridge, who was to meet Municipal Affairs Minister James Louder today, says Kamloops is trying to force the provincial government to bring about amalgamation. But Gerry Anderson, NDP MLA for Kamloops, says Mr. Louder's department won't intervene, at least not "at an early date."

Mr. Anderson suggested that cities try to look at it from Kamloops point of view.

going to find out just how much Kamloops has been helping them financially and that some of the criticism of Kamloops has been unjustified," he said. "I say that as a resident of Brockhurst," one of the cut-off communities.

What happened to Peter Wing's "great things?" Most area planners and economists agree the two amalgamated communities got off to a bad start. The only immediate result of the merger was an increase in taxes that made amalgamation a dirty word.

Eight months after the "wedding of the year" Kamloops administrator Ted Chace announced the birth of plans for a systematic take-over of the surrounding areas where residential development was taking place with little regard for community planning or provision of services.

The "Chace Report" sparked hostile reactions. The municipally unorganized community of Valleyview, with 3,200 residents on Kamloops' eastern flank, hurriedly became a town with its own mayor and four aldermen.

COUNCIL PILES PLUG

Two weeks ago, with Kamloops taxpayers showing growing irritation at ever-rising taxes, Kamloops city council lowered the boom.

In a 16-point resolution unanimously approved by aldermen, council moved to cut off administrative services, restrict fire protection, terminate a metro policing system, stop the sale of water (except to the Kamloops Indian Reserve) and announced termination of a sewer agreement with the District of Puffin.

At the same time it announced rates for time it announced rates for

Hanoi Requests Canada To Help Peace Force

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Sunday that Hanoi as well as Washington wants Canada to serve on a supervisory force in Vietnam if a ceasefire is achieved. "We've had direct word from Hanoi that they would like Canada to be a member of the supervisory commission," he told a CBC television interviewer. "They positively want us. They rely on our objectivity."

A post office spokesman said Sunday in Vancouver that a Montreal printer will be footing the bill for reprinting of thousands of faulty 1973 calendars the post office had planned to mail to homes across Canada. Lee Saul said the calendars, some of which listed a small February 29, 30 and 31 on the March page, were en route to major cities before the error was spotted. He said the printer and an advertising agency whose names were not available assumed full responsibility for the error because the shipments were made before the job was approved by post office officials.

Premier Ed Schreyer told Manitoba New Democrats Sunday to be prepared for a provincial general election campaign in which the government will be attacked on everything from industrial management to welfare abuse. With the election expected in 1973, Mr. Schreyer said party members must draw attention to the general acceptance of Manitoba's government-run automobile insurance scheme and defend efforts to develop industry in the rural areas.

Canada and South Vietnam signed a $1-million agreement today for a Canadian-sponsored public health program in South Vietnam's Mekong Delta. An announcement from the development aid section attached to the Canadian delegation at the International Control Commission said a team of about eight Canadian health workers will help at the public health training demonstration centre at Long Xuyen, the provincial capital of An Giang in the western central Mekong Delta southwest of Saigon. A memorandum on the project was signed by R. David Jackson of the Canadian delegation and South Vietnamese Health Minister Tran Minh Tung.

King Hussein of Jordan expelled the remnants of the Palestine Liberation Army from the country Sunday, the Palestinian news agency Wafa reported. The last unit, known as the 4th Battalion, crossed the Jordanian border into Syria at sunset, the agency added. The bulk of the PLA now is in Syria.

Prepaid Services Seen By Lawyers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Bar Association said Sunday that B.C. may have a prepaid legal services plan within a year. Sholto Heberton, Vancouver lawyer and chairman of the association's special committee on the prepaid plan, said the program will be designed in its earlier stages for groups such as teachers' associations and unions.

He said eventually it could be extended to include all persons in the middle-income sector—those between the rich and those poor enough to qualify for free legal aid. He said his committee has been working on the plan for several months and hopes to present several ideas to a B.C. meeting Feb. 1. Mr. Heberton said work on the plan will continue and more definite proposals will be ready for the branch's annual meeting in Victoria in June.

NEEDS SUPPORT
Mr. Heberton warned, however, the plan could easily run into stumbling blocks which would throw its timetable out by at least several months. He said the association would have to be sure there would be sufficient public response to the plan before establishing it. Mr. Heberton said the plan would cater to the middle-income group because it is a sector that currently has unequal access to legal services. He said the rich can afford lawyers and the poor have the right under the existing legal aid program to free help when they need it.

UNIT OPENS
VICTORIA (CP)—A 10-bed psychiatric unit for intensive care treatment of acutely disturbed children opens today at the Eric Martin Institute. Clinical director Dr. Phillip Ney said the only similar facility in British Columbia was an eight-bed unit at Vancouver General Hospital.

WON'T NAME HIM
VICTORIA (CP)—Agnes Kripps, president of the women's auxiliary of the British Columbia Social Credit League, said Saturday she has a candidate for the party leadership, but she won't name him now. Mrs. Kripps, former member of the legislature for Vancouver South, said the leadership convention will be held next fall in Vancouver to name a successor to W. A. C. Bennett.

Mr. Heberton warned, however, the plan could easily run into stumbling blocks which would throw its timetable out by at least several months. He said the association would have to be sure there would be sufficient public response to the plan before establishing it. Mr. Heberton said the plan would cater to the middle-income group because it is a sector that currently has unequal access to legal services. He said the rich can afford lawyers and the poor have the right under the existing legal aid program to free help when they need it.

NO DAMAGE From Tremor
BUCKINGHAM, Que. (CP)—No damage was reported as a minor tremor Saturday rocked this small community 35 miles northeast of Ottawa.

Police said the sound from the 10-second tremor was similar to that of a large truck rumbling down a street. It was the second tremor to shake the community in the last year.

Prepaid Services Seen By Lawyers
VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Bar Association said Sunday that B.C. may have a prepaid legal services plan within a year. Sholto Heberton, Vancouver lawyer and chairman of the association's special committee on the prepaid plan, said the program will be designed in its earlier stages for groups such as teachers' associations and unions.

He said eventually it could be extended to include all persons in the middle-income sector—those between the rich and those poor enough to qualify for free legal aid. He said his committee has been working on the plan for several months and hopes to present several ideas to a B.C. meeting Feb. 1. Mr. Heberton said work on the plan will continue and more definite proposals will be ready for the branch's annual meeting in Victoria in June.

Government changes to existing legislation made to exist at the fall session next year and the plan could be functioning on an experimental basis by the end of the year, he said.

Subdivision Holdup Already In Effect Says B.C. Official

Although the provincial government has yet to introduce the legislation, a 'freeze' on the subdivision of agricultural land is apparently in effect.

Approval to subdivide land in unorganized areas must come from the highways department and the Couriers has learned that approval is not forthcoming throughout the province.

R. G. White, of Kamloops, approving officer for the south-central interior region, which includes the Central Okanagan, said today all applications for subdivisions in unincorporated areas "are being held in abeyance" pending what he termed "policy direction" from Victoria.

Mr. White said he believed the decision to hold back on subdivision approval stems from the NDP government's announced intention to introduce "greenbelt" legislation to help preserve prime agricultural land.

Highways Minister Robert Strachan was unavailable for a comment this morning and neither deputy minister H. T. Miard, nor his assistant, Robert Harvey, was prepared to say anything.

Regional planner Donald Barham said today he had received no official direction from the government with regard to subdivision approval.

"We're still processing between 55 and 60 through here a month," he said.

The regional planning office is responsible for preliminary approval or recommendation prior to final approval by the highways department.

The planner indicated alarm at the news and wondered why, if there is a present policy of holding back approval, nobody has been informed.

Agriculture Minister David Stupich, in announcing the planned freeze on farmland subdivision last month, said the NDP government was firmly committed to introducing legislation after Christmas which would halt the loss of valuable agricultural land throughout the province, particularly in the Fraser Valley and Okanagan areas.

He prepared this report, which he says he will present to city council Tuesday:

"The Ultra Love Products Emporium

"Is merely a super sensorium.

"It's unintellectual, and maybe bisexual.

"But hardly a pornography."

Harry Truman Improved Today

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman was slightly improved today and spoke for the first time in more than a week, but he remained in serious condition.

A spokesman for Research Hospital and Medical Centre, where Truman was admitted Dec. 5, said that when asked how he felt early today the 88-year-old former president replied:

BANDIT WINS RACE

VANCOUVER (CP) — A bandit won a foot race after taking about $500 from a Toronto Dominion Bank branch here. The man escaped after being chased several blocks by the manager of the bank, police said.

The Naramata local says the legislation "may compel the orchardist to remain farming when business dictates he stop . . ." and its resolution asks that the legislation be opposed "unless accompanied by a surtax tariff protection raising imported fruit to the level of our cost of production."

The number represented in the award was for the year 1971 and the Pollution Control Centre staff is hoping to add another this year. Centre staff member Claude Aykroyd places the award in a prominent position at the plant.

Supply Of Vegetables Normal In Okanagan

The local supply of vegetables, particularly potatoes, is normal, according to a spokesman from the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency at Vernon.

Queried about a reported shortage of vegetables at the coast and subsequent higher prices, agency sales manager, Lionel Balair, said today Interior vegetable crops have not been affected by the adverse weather conditions which precipitated the vegetable shortage in other parts of the province.

"We know there is going to be a freeze and growers harvest their crops in September and October," Mr. Balair said, adding the onion yield this year would be a little shorter than normal.

The price of Interior grown vegetables however, is a matter of "supply and demand" plus the fact of shrinking crop land due to inability of growers to receive prices demanded for their crops, Mr. Balair emphasized.

Shoppers in Vancouver were warned last week vegetables would be in short supply, poorer in quality and more expensive due to losses from severe weather in the province, Washington, Oregon and California.

Edward Gilmore, manager of the British Columbia Vegetable Marketing Board, estimated crop losses in the province of about $450,000 would force stores to California for alternate supplies earlier than usual this year.

A California spokesman estimated prices there would be as much as 50 to 100 per cent higher until late February, while Alan Barker, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Cooperative, predicted a 50 per cent higher price hike for vegetables in that city.

He said weather has destroyed about 2,000 tons of turnips, cabbage, carrots and cauliflower worth some $250,000.

Mr. Gilmore said losses in southern B.C. were about $200,000, mainly in cabbages left in the field for late harvesting.

Opposition Leader Leaves On Three-Month World Trip

Opposition leader W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett sailed from Vancouver Saturday night aboard the cargo-passenger vessel Oriental Carnival on a three-month world cruise.

The cruise will take them through the Panama Canal, to Florida, the east coast of South America, South Africa and to Singapore, from which point Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will fly back to British Columbia.

The Social Credit leader, who is 72, told well-wishers he's "going away 50 and coming back 40." Hundreds of well-wishers went aboard the ship. They included a busload of party faithful, Mayor Tom Campbell of Vancouver, former cabinet ministers and officials of the Social Credit Party.

Mr. Bennett said his greatest achievement in his 20 years as premier was the damming of the Columbia and Peace Rivers. He said if the two rivers hadn't been dammed at the same time, it would have cost a lot of dollars more to dam them separately now.

He said his greatest disappointment was that Social Credit didn't win eight B.C. elections in a row. He said that as a baseball fan he knows you can't bat 1,000 every time and added that Social Credit is sitting this one out "only to let the others in for an inning."

Mr. Bennett said that "members of Social Credit and free enterprise, no matter what political party they're in, can sleep nights because even the socialists won't be able to spend all the money we've left for them."

He urged party supporters to get out and work for more memberships. He said that when he returns from the cruise he wants to see 50,000 new Social Credit memberships.

"You've got to have dynamic capitalism," he said, "and that means Social Credit." He described the Liberals and Conservatives as just "lazy-faire" capitalists.

Young Boy In Fair Condition After Car Collides With Pole

Two Rutland boys were taken to Kelowna General Hospital Saturday after a vehicle one was driving hit a telephone pole on Highway 97 at Enterprise Way.

Six-year-old Sean Brown was still under intensive care today and reported in fair condition. His older brother James Russell Brown was reported in satisfactory condition and out of intensive care. Damage to the vehicle was reported at $1,000 and $500 to the pole.

A one-car accident Saturday on Valley Road caused an estimated $1,000 damage to a vehicle driven by Jaimal Slagh Bluelier of Vancouver. There were no injuries reported.

A two-car accident on Campbell Road Sunday caused an estimated $900 damage to vehicles driven by Martin Tait and Westbank and Lesley Denney of Kelowna. No injuries were reported.

A two-car accident Sunday on Ellis Street, also on Campbell Road, caused an estimated $900 damage to vehicles driven by Martin Tait and Westbank and Lesley Denney of Kelowna. No injuries were reported.

Frederick Wagner Buried Today

Funeral services were to be held from the Church of Immaculate Conception today for Frederick James Wagner, 34, of Kelowna, who died in Victoria Friday.

Surviving members of the family include his mother, Mrs. M. (Rose) Wagner of Kelowna; three sisters, Mrs. Fred (Madeleine) Sell of Kamloops, Mrs. Douglas (Jean) Jelstad of Burnaby and Mrs. Douglas (Martha) MacSweeney of Victoria; three brothers, John of Prince George, Martin of Okanagan Centre and Bruce of Red Deer, Alta. Mr. Wagner was predeceased by his father, Matthew Wagner of Kelowna, in 1960, and one sister, Mrs. D. K. (Katherine) Ellis of Kamloops.

Funeral services were to be conducted by Rev. P. J. McCutty, with burial in Kelowna cemetery. Prayers and toasts for Mr. Wagner were offered at Day's Chapel of Remembrance, Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Friends wishing to remember Mr. Wagner are asked to contribute to the multiple service fund.

Day's Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Break-Ins Reported

RCMP in Kelowna reported a series of weekend break-ins in the area with thieves making off with beer and tape decks.

Jenkins Cartage on Ellis Street was broken into and police said the doors were forced open but only two cases of beer were taken.

J and C Agencies, also on Ellis Street, was broken into and thieves took one tape changer, some radios and tape decks.

Police apprehended a juvenile after they received a report of an attempted break-in at George Pringle's Secondary School in Westbank. The youth will appear in juvenile court this week.

Raymer Road caused an estimated $800 damage to vehicles driven by John Chaplin and David Bird both of Kelowna. No injuries were reported.

A parking lot accident Saturday caused an estimated $350 damage to vehicles driven by Gary Klein of Kelowna and Patricia Allan of Rutland. No injuries were reported.

SEEN and HEARD

No wonder Ron and Lorna Stansfield's performance as Karl and Klara, the ravens in The Snow Queen, was so realistic. They spent the better part of two days at the city dump studying the strut of the real birds. Everyone, old and young, who attended the annual Christmas fantasy, were enthralled with the performance of the ravens including Klara's solo entrances "on the wing."

Meals on Wheels is accepting service appointments for Christmas and New Year's Day up to 10 p.m., Thursday. The annual Yuletide service is designed for senior citizens, couples and singles who are unable to prepare their own meals on the specified days. The number to call is 3-5030.

Kelowna Search and Rescue teamed up with the RCMP on snowmobiles in search of a lost snowmobiler and his two children on Terrace Mountain Saturday. The three missing persons found their way out and ended up at Entry Estates on Westside Road. Police said none of the three were injured or otherwise affected by the cold.

Short Takes

And the long range weather forecast said December temperatures would be higher than normal!

The just concluded final Apollo moon flight prompts one to wonder about the future of space travel. Whether there is any future for manned space travel will emerge gradually after long exploration by machines. The answer may turn out to be negative. So far no other planet appears able to support human life. Nor is there any immediate prospect that man will find it worthwhile to exploit the mineral resources of other planets for use on earth. For the moment there is nothing that needs to be done in space that cannot be done more cheaply and effectively by machines. Decisions on manned flight can therefore be safely postponed. . . . It would, however, be wrong to write off all exploration of space as an escape into fantasy or just another example of the mindless pursuit of technological progress. It is an expression of human curiosity which cannot be suppressed without risk of stagnation. Human beings who cease to wonder about the stars would be less than human. The only real question is how much money to spend on this type of knowledge. At present it is probably more important to explore the inner spaces of human nature than the outer spaces of human environment.

We have come to the conclusion that the average driver is somewhat inconsiderate when it comes to parking. How very often when you are looking for a space you see a car parked with space ahead of it for half a car and the same behind. In other words he is taking up two spaces. And, so very often, this situation exists when the parked car is in either the first spot in that block or the last. The driver simply stopped five or six feet too soon in the first instance and in the second he drove needlessly five or six feet too far. In both cases the driver prevented another driver from finding a space. This situation is particularly noticeable on Strathcona Avenue near the hospital. There, due to driveways and fire hydrants, there are several parking spots just big enough for two cars; yet many, many times these past few days we have noticed the entire two spots taken up by one car because it was parked smack in the middle. The driver just did not care about anyone else. Thoughtless. We've been talking about parallel parking, of course, but the angle-parking drivers are not without blemish too, these days. The snow hides the marks on the pavement, so drivers take good care to be several feet away from the car parked next. Result: two cars use three spaces or more. The other afternoon in the hospital parking lot there were four cars parked where there should have been eight. Yet people were driving around the lot looking for a spot to squeeze into. Just a little consideration on the part of drivers when parking would make this Christmas a happier one for other drivers. Well, at least less frustrating.

The Vietnam war has always been both a war about self-determination for South Vietnam and a war about the United States' relationship with the rest of the non-Communist world. It is not only in Saigon that every word of any settlement Mr. Kissinger finally accepts will be examined with a microscope.

Safest To Run In Dublin?

Sean O'Casey, the celebrated Irish playwright, once observed that "when things look safest in Ireland, that's the time to run for cover."

After several hectic weeks of political manoeuvring and violent clashes, events in the Irish Republic have slowly returned to normal. While no one is running for cover, there is little certainty that the tranquillity will last.

On the surface, all seems well. Dublin's singing pubs are filled again. Christmas shoppers through O'Connell Street and bright decorations adorn wide avenues where only weeks ago a vicious bombing killed two people and injured scores.

Premier Jack Lynch, whose political acumen usually baffles his critics, seems securely back in control.

"Canny Jack" as he is known to many Irish commentators, set off the latest round of troubles with his decision to crack down hard on the outlawed Irish Republican Army, arresting its best-known leader, Sean MacStiofain, and pushing through highly-restrictive legislation.

Despite his perilous, one-seat parliamentary majority, Lynch gained sufficient support to pass his anti-IRA bill, partly because terrorism in the streets coincided with debate on the issue.

But veteran observers still harbor doubts about whether the Republic's current peace will endure.

Lynch has used the new legislation only in a few isolated cases. No more than a handful of arrests have been made since the bill's passage. Consequently, there is no certainty that the public reaction would be if there was a full-scale roundup of suspected IRA members.

Two reasons are usually given for Lynch's delay in using the new measures. A master of timing, the premier may be waiting for another bomb blast or terrorist outbreak before encouraging the police to act.

He may also be holding his new powers in reserve until British Prime Minister Edward Heath moves against Protestant extremists in the North.

In addition, Lynch may be hoping that his display of co-operation with the British in acting against the IRA will bring the kind of change in Ulster which people in the South could support.

Already, the Heath government has announced a referendum will be held March 8 in Ulster to determine whether the people there wish to remain part of the United Kingdom or join the Republic, a move supported by Lynch. A recent poll in the South heavily favored Irish unification.

But the Irish premier is not likely to be satisfied with a referendum alone. Ideally, he would like to see Britain's planned white paper on Ulster replace Stormont with a Northern Ireland assembly, elected with proportional representation and given limited powers.

He also wants security in the North to remain in British hands and is calling for establishment of a Council of Ireland, containing representatives from Ulster and the Republic and having significant responsibilities in economic and social fields.

Most observers do not expect an election in the Republic before April, barring a political crisis. By that time, new constituency boundaries will have been drawn, to the advantage of Lynch's Fianna Fail party.

But the possibility exists that the IRA will be able to reorganize and pose a serious threat again to Lynch's ability to control the organization. O'Casey's words are taken seriously in Ireland.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

CANADA'S STORY

Many Pioneers Were Seigneurs

By BOB BOWMAN

The system of seigneurial tenure in Canada ended officially on Dec. 18, 1854. It had not been effective since about 1826 when seigneurs in Quebec were authorized to change to the British system of freehold.

One of the most distinguished seigneurs almost to the end was Louis Joseph Papineau, a great orator who was largely responsible for the Lower Canada rebellion in 1837. He had to seek refuge in France for seven years. Ironically, he paid a visit to Britain before returning to Canada in 1844.

Papineau's seigneurie was at Montebello on the Ottawa River between Ottawa and Montreal. The seigneurial system ended in France before it did in Canada. It was abolished as a result of the French Revolution in 1789.

The system began in North America at Port Royal when the Sieur de Poirincourt became the first seigneur in 1604. Canada's first doctor, Louis Hebert, became a seigneur at Quebec in 1623. The first seigneur to divide his land into narrow strips so habitants could build homes there was Robert Giffard in 1634.

Other famous seigneurs in Canadian history include Cadillac (his land was in present-day Maine), LaSalle, Charles LeMoine and his son Iberville. The province of Quebec still provides a colorful reminder of the seigneurial system with its narrow strips of land divided by wooden fences running back from the St. Lawrence and other important rivers.

BOOK CORNER

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Thomas D'Arcy McGee, journalist, poet and politician, one of the Fathers of Confederation, was shot to death outside his boarding house in Ottawa early in the morning of April 7, 1868. It was Canada's first political assassination. The country was stirred and the Fenians were blamed.

Patrick James Whelan, a young Irish immigrant tailor, alleged to have been a member of the Fenian Brotherhood, a secret society dedicated to liberate Ireland from British rule, was convicted of the murder. The Crown's allegation of a Fenian conspiracy was never proved either at his trial or at the trials of other suspects who were acquitted.

His hanging Feb. 11, 1869, was the last public execution in Canada. The hangman, an amateur, bungled the job and Whelan strangled before 5,000 spectators.

Doubts as to Whelan's guilt were voiced at the time, after his passion cooled, and persist more than a century later.

One doubter is T. P. Slatery, Montreal lawyer who, for most of his life, has been fascinated by the crime and Whelan's trial. In 1938 he published "The Assassination of D'Arcy McGee which told the story of the tragic death of one of Canada's most colorful founding fathers. He has delved deeply into records of the case and now is out with Part II—"They Got to Find Mee Gully Yet."

FAMILY PLAN

Sir: I write in reference to some opinions expressed in the Dec. 4 edition, page 4, of the Courier regarding Family Planning Information.

The article in part stated as follows: "Why Family Planning in this beautiful British Columbia, where there is still so much living space? Because more than 5,000 children are admitted to the care of the Superintendent of Child Welfare and the Children's Aid Societies in B.C. and more than half can be classified as unwanted—battered, disturbed, neglected, delinquent, abandoned, transient or waiting adoption."

Inherent in the family court process in this province under the Protection of Children Act is the recognition of both a need and a right of a child to acceptance, adequate provision for physical and emotional needs and proper supervision. It also recognizes that a child has a basic need and right to love and intelligent guidance from parents and the opportunity to develop a trust in people.

Can a child that is in need of protection, then be arbitrarily "classified" as the article suggested, as "unwanted" because that child is shown to have been battered or disturbed or neglected or delinquent, etc? Acts of violence and maltreatment should surely be seen as a symptom of family breakdown rather than as an opportunity for a sweeping denial of a child's basic and rightful place within his family. (And may it never be forgotten that Hitler "classified" Jews as "unwanted.") Five million were murdered as a result.)

Can it also be, as the article further suggested, that a child who comes into care of the superintendent of child welfare, probably very temporarily as a "transient" that he too be regarded as "unwanted"? Who is the judge? And if an infant is "waiting adoption"? That phrase implies the infant is very much wanted because a childless couple can look to a realization of their wish for parenthood under the Adoption Act.

Family planning, similar to the word "prevention" has many connotations. The planned denial by a couple to have children is prevention. So also is the intentional limiting of a family size. It is also the positive effort of concerned citizens who support resources, such as foster parenting and other child care services. These services are provided voluntarily and by statute to children in need of protection because they are unwanted.

The focus of all child welfare services in this province is primarily on prevention through early detection and alleviation of pathology by aiding, to the greatest degree possible, help to children who have been hurt mentally, emotionally and physically towards a confident, secure and happy adulthood.

LIONEL WACE,
District Supervisor.

HARDEN HEARTS

Sir: I read with great interest your editorial, Capital Punishment. This is such a very important subject that it should be settled by a vote of the entire voting public, just the same as an election of our members of Parliament.

It is too important to just let our members handle it alone. Our police have warned us for years. We pay no attention.

We call for more police protection and do not back them up. Unfortunately, it is not love that keeps people good, but fear of punishment, and we are making that punishment lighter and lighter, now they no longer have anything to fear.

It is time we hardened our hearts, execute the hardened, and use the lash on other lawbreakers.

We have spared the rod and spoiled the child, now we are paying for it.

This increase in crime is the result of treating them in a civilized manner, try the other way for a while. They will understand it better.

Yours truly,
E. W. VEALE

THE WORLD TODAY

Author Ponders Canadian Values

By JOHN D. HARBON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Some say Canada's future image in the world will be "The Peaceable Kingdom" as William Kilbourn called his book about Canadian values.

If so, that means Canada will probably be the one country in the Western world which can afford to take them—and switch know-how mainly devoted to growth to solving social and "people" problems.

While other Western and basically capitalistic countries like the United States, Japan and West Germany relentlessly pursue materialistic goals, Canadian leadership will be more and more devoted to what Prime Minister Trudeau for a time called, The Just Society.

Proof of this trend is found in the "no-growth" pressure groups who are trying to stop Toronto, the federal and provincial governments from building a second jet airport for that city, who elected a reformist mayor and anti-development council in Toronto and who soon will concentrate on trying to stop before they start the huge resources developments projects in the Arctic and at James Bay in northern Quebec.

STUDIED BY U.S.

Another proof of the growing interest of Americans, as individuals and in government, in the placid, easygoing North American society in Canada—the country which did not involve itself in the disaster in Vietnam, does not have massive racial troubles, builds rather than ignores the central core of its major cities.

This American view of Canada has been called by one U.S. newspaper editor, "Canada—The Alternate America, what we could have been like without Vietnam and urban decay."

But surely this has to be a view of ourselves which is also disturbing, of a passive future society where big ideas and futurism, putting technology to work, become bad politics.

At present in Canada there are at least four exciting and revolutionary schemes for developing the Arctic, our last great frontier—and along with Brazil's Amazonian wilderness—one of the last true frontiers on earth.

Do we let our North lie fallow while we support the causes of native peoples who want to participate in the Canadian experience, but cannot survive in a tough environment we will not develop?

Can we have our cake and eat it too—a Canadian propensity all too obvious in our foreign policies and our ambivalent attitude about foreign investment.

We don't like foreign control. But we like the affluence it brings. So we ignore the problem of who owns Canada and hope it will go away.

If we reject the visionaries among us we reject a distinct Canadian future. At present, highly-competent Canadians, business executives, lawyers, economists, retired businessmen, senior bureaucrats in all levels of government, are proposing we do several exciting and dynamic things with our North.

These include super-jumbo aircraft which will ship out all our future Arctic gas exports over 1,700 miles of tundra, another calling for a trans-Arctic railway of the same length, yet another for a $6 billion Arctic gas pipeline and the lingering Mid-Canada Corridor concept for development of that mid-section of Canada between the urbanized south and the tundra, where a second nation could be populated and developed.

Junk all these in the cause of people power—and the country runs down. That's not a popular response these days to "people power." But it's still one which won't go away.

Push-Button Information System Holds Some Energy-Saving Points

OTTAWA (CP) — A new push-button information system being tested by lawyers holds out the promise of saving legal evening hours and arm muscles from grappling with weighty volumes of laws and courtroom precedents.

An adaptation of information retrieval systems and long-distance communications provides data for law offices across the country from a central source in Ottawa.

Instead of sending juniors to the bookshelves, the lawyer may punch out his request on a keyboard. Within 30 seconds, all working well, the reference he wants appears on a TV-like cathode ray screen.

Named Quic-Law, the system has been tested for 18 months in law facilities and government offices. It is being tried in private legal firms in Ottawa and Vancouver. Including unstaffed offices, the network has 22 terminals drawing information from the law motherlode at Ottawa University.

MACHINES COMPACT

The terminals are compact—a small typewriter-like keyboard in front of the viewing screen. Questions and directions for the search process are typed in sentence form or in the key words which provide clues for the computer.

The reply is flashed back through telephone lines from the computer bank in Ottawa onto the television screen. If a printed copy of the document is required, a request via the system brings it by mail.

The project was initiated early in 1969 by Hugh Lawford, a law professor at Queen's University, Kingston. An agreement was made between Queen's and International Business Machines to study the need for legal information retrieval systems in law firms.

TOLD IN OTTAWA

The name Quic-Law is derived from the project's official title—Queen's University Investigation of Computing and Law. Similar research had begun at the University of Pittsburgh and by Meade Data Corp., an Ohio-based subsidiary of Meade Paper Co.

Since the project began, Prof. Lawford and his research team have been concerned mainly with determining the needs of possible clients, as well as testing the system's proficiency. The response from Quic-Law users has been favorable, Prof. Lawford said in an interview.

The Quic-Law terminals are rented from IBM for about $250 a month. Queen's rents them to users at the same rental price, with additional minor charges. Each search between the user and $1. But if it takes longer than a minute, no charge is made. One indication of the project's success, Prof. Lawford said, is that a dollar has been collected for each search made so far.

Total development expenditure since the project began three years ago has run to about $2 million. Funds for development have come from Queen's, IBM, telephone companies across the country and contracts with government agencies.

Last summer, Prof. Lawford was invited by various law groups in the United States to demonstrate Quic-Law beside similar U.S. systems at a seminar sponsored by the Chicago Bar Association.

How did Quic-Law fare? "I'd rather not say," Prof. Lawford says. "It's not my policy to make rude comments about competing systems."

And Who Speaks For Business?

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
CP Business Editor

Who speaks for Canadian business? There are many spokesmen, but no single voice. Many consider this a problem and there is some talk about providing business with a single, powerful voice to present its case.

This would be especially useful in dealings with governments. The federal government, for instance, has expressed the desire to deal with fewer business groups than at present.

So far, business sees no immediate prospect that it can bring together so many divergent views to provide such a single voice. But some efforts are being made to move at least part way.

The business community now speaks primarily through trade associations such as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and its branches, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Retail Council of Canada and a multitude of others.

All have their own special interests—and that is the crux of the problem. How, for instance, can exporters and importers—both of whom have their own associations—be expected to have the same viewpoint on many vital issues?

One fear of the existing associations is that their viewpoint would be watered down, and thus less effective, if they were part of a more wide-ranging group.

There is the added problem of expecting business to reach a consensus when, in fact, there rarely is agreement even among firms in the same field. The Canadian Chamber, for instance, has come out in favor of price and wage controls under certain conditions. The manufacturers are dead set against them.

Despite these differences, these two groups have been holding close consultations for some time on matters of common concern.

"We'll continue a regular series of exchanges for what can be considered close consultation," says a source close to the situation. "But there still is strong resistance to any common umbrella group."

OBLIGED TO LISTEN

Those who argue against a single business body say government in a democratic society must be prepared to listen to all divergent views, and then make its own decision.

"No dilution of views should be forced upon us for the sake of reaching a consensus."

One possible solution was outlined in a recent speech by R. J. Bilodeau, president of Honeywell Ltd., Toronto. He suggested formation of a national "association of associations" to represent all segments of business.

He said the multiplicity of associations means that the views of business are generally presented "in a fragmented way and thus lose much of their persuasive impact."

He said such a group would include present industry groups and their staffs. Its function would be to determine the views held in common by various branches of Canadian business and industry, and to develop and articulate appropriate recommendations.

"I contend the reason business is not sufficiently heeded is that it speaks with too many tongues. What is needed is a single, powerful voice that is truly and officially representative of the entire business community in its dealings with government and labor."

PARTY HATS MADE by the guests at the Discovery Club's Christmas party included a wide variety of ideas from old fashioned bonnet types, as seen in the foreground, to pixie types such as Santa's helper wears. After Santa's visit and the distribution of gifts, a sing-song of carols completed the afternoon program of games and merriment. — (Courier Photo)

THE DISCOVERY CLUB

The 'Whole Gang' Attended The First Christmas Social

A first for the Discovery Club, sponsored by Mental Health, Kelowna occurred on Thursday, Dec. 14, when the members and volunteers, a total of 80 persons, were all together at one time for the Christmas party held at St. David's Presbyterian Church. Program co-ordinator, Mrs. J. A. Rigate who convened the event was assisted by Mrs. Bruce Brown and volunteer craft workers, musicians and drivers.

The Christmas spirit was exemplified by the making of party hats which the participants wore for the afternoon of games, carol singing and Christmas refreshments, plus a visit from Santa Claus.

The hall was elaborately decorated with bells, pine cones, trees, star wreaths and many other yuletide ideas, all made by the members themselves.

Table decorations made and donated by Bill Jennings were awarded to members through a fun draw. Lucky winners of the novel centerpieces were Mrs. William Holmes, Mrs. Nellie Edwards, Frank Kuby, Mrs. Lou Gaudard, Eileen Dyste, Mrs. Lillian Atkinson, Mrs. Mary Edmonds, Mrs. Verna Gabriel, Jack Travers, Mrs. Sam Jones, Henry Casper, and Mrs. Effie Smith.

Guests included, William Halyk, president of Mental Health, Kelowna, and Mrs. Halyk; Douglas Hillian who represented his father, George Hillian, chairman of the management committee for Discovery Club; Rev. David Stewart and Rev. Ray Bray and Lionel Wace, director of the social rehabilitation branch in Kelowna. Douglas Hillian has been recently elected secretary for the 1973 Mental Health — Kelowna.

Mr. Halyk thanked the members and volunteers for their faithful work this past year and mentioned the possibilities of further expansion in programs in 1973 which will be announced at a later date.

SCHEDULE

The Discovery Club, a social club, which is non-denominational, is open to all handicapped people and offers a variety of programs in handicrafts, games, music, dancing, entertainment and refreshments. People now attending include those with arthritis, people learning to live with themselves, and people from local and district boarding homes and Sunnyvale workshop.

Held in St. David's Presbyterian Church hall, the program is open every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m. and Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. Weekly entertainment is also provided at Mount View Rest Home, Rutland.

Mrs. Rigate reviewed the work of the past year which included social events, picnics and sales of handicraft work. The proceeds of these sales will be used for additional games and equipment, she said and mentioned that a record player donated by a local furniture store is in constant use.

Judges for the party hat contest were: Mrs. D. Parks, Mrs. J. D. Hinde and Mrs. J. Paynter. Prizes for the most original went to, Eileen Dyste, Jack Travers and Mrs. William Holmes.

After Santa Claus made his call and the gifts were delivered by willing helpers, carols were enjoyed. Christmas goodies formed the refreshments served.

Discovery Club will be closed for the holidays until Jan. 3.

HITHER and YON

The adult members of the cast and members of the production crews of The Snow Queen, the Christmas fantasy produced by the Canadian School of Ballet and Theatre Kelowna enjoyed an after the theatre get-together Saturday night following the night performance. Hosted by Theatre Kelowna the party was held at the CSB studios. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tasker were in charge of arrangements for the fun time. Children in the cast were given candy treats after the Saturday performance.

Among the many out-of-town families and groups who attended The Snow Queen was a bus load of 57 children from the Keremeos-Cawston area. Arrangement for this trip were by Mrs. Marion Moore of Keremeos, formerly of Kelowna.

The children were most enthused about the fantasy, the first they had ever attended.

Mrs. Paddy Malcolm English, who directed and wrote The Snow Queen, was a house guest for most of the week with Dr. Gweneth Lloyd and Mrs. Betty Farrally of Cedar Point.

Ornamented Foam Ball Will Draw Some 'Ahhs'

Make a kissing ball with a velvet touch, co-ordinating the color with your own decor. This one is simple to make and should draw a few "ohhs" and "ahhs".

Start with a styrofoam ball and spray it with "Mod Tone" glitter glue. This is a product produced by Canadian Industries Limited and is available now in most hardware stores, paint dealers or hobby shops. It's a great asset when you want to do a fast job because it's mess-free.

While the ball is still wet, sprinkle gold or silver glitter generously over the surface. (It's wise to spread a paper when you're using glitter, so that you can catch the overflow and use it again.)

The swirls are made individually by wrapping a chenille pipe cleaner around a pencil, sliding it from the pencil and then spreading it gently, hitching together the two ends. A corsage pin, threaded through a pearl, bead, sequin (all three for a truly opulent look), is then run through the hole in the "swirl" and into the foam ball.

Pipe cleaners come in packages, either all one color, or in mixed colors, so you can make the ball any color you wish. Ours was multi-colored with just a hint of the glittery surface of the ball showing through.

EASY DOES IT

with Win Packer

Tubes that once were rolls for wax paper, aluminum foil, paper towels, etc., can become large-size, interesting Christmas crackers when filled with candies, cookies, sox or stockings for older recipients, or with small gifts for the young fry.

Cover the filled tubes with colorful Christmas wrap that extends several inches beyond the ends of the tube, twist and push into the tube opening some of the extended wrap and tie with ribbon. Slash the remaining extension of wrapping to simulate a traditional cracker.

A dandy idea for those extra gifts or surprises for children who come to visit over the holiday season.

Figs Are A Part Of Festive Foods

By ALICE DENHOFF

Dried figs are as much a part of the Christmas scene as evergreens, holly and eggnog. It's an old tradition, for in Elizabethan England, port wine, dried figs and nuts, such as filberts, followed the roast goose and plum pudding. Nothing like that these days, today we use California dried figs in tarts, cakes and puddings.

CALIFORNIA CHESS TARTS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup solid all-vegetable shortening
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1/2 cup light cream
1 cup (toasted) filberts, chopped
1 cup California dried figs, chopped
1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine flour and salt in mixing bowl. With pastry blender or 2 knives, cut in shortening until mixture is uniform but coarse. Sprinkle with water, toss with a fork and press dough into a ball. Divide dough into 12 parts.

On lightly floured surface, roll each part into a 5-inch circle. Fit pastry circles into 3 1/2 inch tart pans and trim even with edge. Cream butter and sugar in bowl. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in remaining ingredients. Fill tart shells 3/4 full and bake in 425 degrees F. oven 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes or until firm. Cool, then carefully remove from pans. Makes 12 tarts.

WEDDINGS MEETINGS DEADLINES

Attention clubs and organizations. The Courier seeks your co-operation in presenting up-to-date accounts of your activities. Reports of meetings and other activities should be submitted to the women's editor immediately.

The same rule applies for weddings. Forms supplied by the Courier may be completed prior to the wedding and submitted immediately following the ceremony. Wedding write-ups submitted more than seven days later will not be published.

If a picture is submitted with a write-up it must be black and white. Color pictures will not be accepted.

ature to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes or until firm. Cool, then carefully remove from pans. Makes 12 tarts.

A delicious dessert is:

BAKED FIG PUDDING

1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 cup unsulphured molasses
2 cups diced California dried figs (about 16 ounces)
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup chopped filberts
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/4 teaspoon ginger

Brown Sugar Whipped Cream (recipe below)

MODERN GOODWILL

The modern version of goodwill tends to take the form of sharing—time and energy and gifts, with others less fortunate. Many groups, church organizations, service clubs and others spread their share of Christmas greetings and thoughtfulness with parties, hampers and gifts. Here the volunteer members of Mental Health/Kelowna donate their time to gift wrapping each gift donated by the community, to appeal to the individual recipients, left to right, Mrs. D'Arce Dendy, Mrs. T. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. B. Feed-

ANN LANDERS

Pupil Pool For Teacher's Gift

Dear Ann Landers: It's pretty late to tell people what to do about Christmas gifts, but maybe if you print this letter, they'll remember next year, I liked your suggestion that the members of a congregation or parish get together and contribute toward a summer vacation for their minister and his family, rather than give him fruit cakes, cookies and candy equivalent to 30,000 calories for each member of the family. How sensible!

As a former school teacher, may I suggest that the homeroom mother ask the other mothers to pitch in for one nice silk scarf rather than allow the teacher to become the helpless victim of 28 bottles of cheap cologne. The teachers of America will love you forever, Ann.—One Who Knows

Dear One: Here's your letter, too late for this year, but worth printing. I wonder who many mothers who are reading it gave their child's teacher cologne?

Dear Ann Landers: Your uncanny mechanism for sniffing out the truth failed you. I hoped you'd clobber the idiot who said, "It's the wife's fault if her husband cheats." She then went on to describe her neighbors and to justify the fact that every one of their husbands had propositioned her. Well, let her read this:

I am wife number One, Two, Three and Four.
I wear curlers to the supermarket like Emily.
I am fat like Bernice.
I do my housework at night like Marge and Lenore, to avoid sleeping with my husband.
But there are reasons for everything.

I stopped spending 40 minutes a day getting glamorous when I noticed my husband wouldn't spend five minutes shaving for me on the days he didn't have to go to work.
He got fat first.
I didn't start to do housework at night until I found out he was getting sex somewhere else. I figured he didn't need two sources.

That woman who roasted the wives seemed proud of herself. May I say that any dame who has a 100-per-cent record for getting invited to bed with the neighborhood to m cats tells something about herself.

The gal's signature was Huntington Station but I'll call her Hunting for short. Tell her to get her nose out of other people's marriages and find something better to do than listen to four swingers run their wives down. If she's not careful she might wind up with one of those losers.—Ex-Petr-Eco

NEW DELHI (AP) — The area of Thako Chak, still bristling with mines from last December's Indo-Pakistan war, was turned over to India Saturday to implement a peace agreement, United News of India said. Pakistan gave India rights to Thako Chak, an area of fewer than two square miles on the international border of Kashmir, in exchange for two Indian-held villages along the line of control inside the disputed state.

Busy Time Of Year For Island Holly Farms

VICTORIA (CP) — If Christmas ever becomes a thing of the past or, somewhat less tragic, if holly ever ceases to be a symbol of that festive season, Ronald Nutter is in trouble.

But since there appears little likelihood of either happening in the foreseeable future, the man who bills himself as Canada's "leading holly grower and shipper of quality English holly," is not worrying.

In fact a tour of Mr. Nutter's holly farm this time of the year would find him co-ordinating the picking, cutting and packing of the green-leaved, red-berried Christmas favorite for shipment to various parts of Canada.

This is not a good year for holly, he said in an interview in a king-sized garage where holly from his 400 trees is in various stages of preparation for its role as decorator of front doors, mantels and dinner tables.

Holly has a two-year cycle and this year happens to be an off year for Mr. Nutter, meaning that on the average his trees show with less leaves and a poorer distribution of berries.

Mr. Nutter is the largest grower on Vancouver Island which claims to have 90 per cent of Canada's holly crop.

FOXALL OPTIMISTIC
But Leslie Foxall, president of the Vancouver Island Holly

Growers' Co-operative Association, who owns 300 trees farther north on the island near Duncan, said: "It is a very good year."

Mr. Foxall said the 20 active members of the holly co-operative sold about 20,000 pounds last year and hope to do as well this year.

The co-operative was formed in the late 1940s to facilitate the marketing of holly for its members. Mr. Nutter is president of the B.C. Holly Growers Society, which was established in 1968 to help holly growers with problems and seek ways to improve holly growing.

Mr. Foxall said it was difficult to put a dollar figure on the amount of holly sold last year by the co-operative but Mr. Nutter said he shipped out more than 20,000 packages in 1971 and that this would amount to over $10,000. Both seemed reluctant to state exactly how much they made.

Mr. Nutter, a retired navy chief petty officer, first went into the holly business in 1949 when he bought his property. The owner at that time was making only about $500 a year from his 104 trees, he said.

While Mr. Nutter explained the operation, some of the helpers were busy putting together holly wreaths to be shipped to Eastern Canada. He said he also makes corsages and centrepieces.

When things are really jumping, Mr. Nutter has about 35 people working for him, mostly local housewives.

Thalidomide Children Compensated

BONN (Reuter) — West German children deformed before birth by the sedative thalidomide as long as 14 years ago will get their first financial compensation before Christmas, a health ministry spokesman said today.

The pre-Christmas payments, said by the spokesman to be up to 2,000 marks (about $620) follow years of dispute among the parents of West Germany's 2,500 thalidomide victims over how available funds should be divided.

The most expensive court case in West German history was broken off in 1970 when the thalidomide makers, Chemie Gruenthal, offered 100 million marks ($31 million) compensation.

The West German government made available another 50 million marks ($15.5 million) to the thalidomide children, whose parents were to be paid by a foundation finally set up a week ago.

But the parents could not agree. Some said the payments from the Gruenthal money alone would have been higher than from the combined Gruenthal and government funds because of certain government restrictions on disbursement.

Most of the children already have been examined by medical experts to determine the extent of their handicaps, which were made the yardstick for dividing the money among them.

Man Survives 25-Day Ordeal On Island

TORONTO (CP) — After 25 days stranded on an island cottage in the Severn River, James Harold Turner, 45, dined Sunday night on half a roast chicken.

The Toronto resident had survived since Nov. 22 on a soup made from six onions, four potatoes, some tea bags and "at least 24 gallons of water." He was found Saturday by Clarence Marshall, a 63-year-old trapper who tramped five miles on snowshoes to the ice-bound cottage.

Mr. Turner had gone to his brother's cottage by boat Nov. 22 to close it for the winter but could not leave the next day because the river had frozen over.

"It's nothing beside what sometimes happens up north," Mr. Turner, an unemployed laborer, said today.

He said he knew it was just a matter of waiting until the ice broke up. The cottage gave him shelter and he kept busy chopping wood for fuel as well as keeping his heaters going. He made one attempt to get out overland and went about seven miles before returning to the cottage exhausted.

Mr. Marshall said he found Mr. Turner huddled with four small electric stoves and smoking rolled-up leaves.

"I didn't really think I was going to find any one," Mr. Marshall said, "so I only packed a light lunch."

"But he certainly gobbled up my lettuce sandwiches and a package of candy I had."

Less Tension In The 'Med'

ABOARD CARRIER FORRESTAL (AP) — A United States Navy commander says Soviet surveillance of the 6th Fleet's activities in the Mediterranean has become "much more reasonable and relaxed" since Washington and Moscow signed the agreement on prevention of accidents at sea in August.

Admiral Frederick Turner, commander of the fleet's attack carrier striking force, said here the new Russian policy has been noted in contrast to the "general harassment" tactics both sides used to employ.

Once, Soviet spy ships kept a close tail on 6th Fleet activities, often endangering sea maneuvers. American planes reacted with close overpasses of Soviet ships in the area.

Now, Turner said, Soviet ships still stalk the fleet, but from a greater distance.

Former Ministers Sentenced To Jail

Thousands Flee From Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — An estimated 28,000 persons have fled from mainland China to the British colony since 1949, more than at any time since World War II, a government spokesman said today.

Wall Street Lower Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York stock market, which opened on a promising note with the Dow Jones industrial average hitting a new high, finished lower last week despite a mild peace rally in the final session.

Coasting on the broad gains it has posted in the last 2 1/2 months, the blue-chip indicator of 30 industrial stocks rose 3.08 points Monday to a record closing high of 1,036.27. The previous high was 1,033.26, reached the previous Thursday.

But consolidation set in and the Dow retreated 3.08 points on Tuesday, 2.71 on Wednesday and 5.42 on Thursday.

Late Friday, a French radio station reported a Vietnam ceasefire would be announced within 48 hours and the Dow advanced more than seven points in about 90 minutes. The White House branded the report "totally unfounded," however, and the industrial average finished the day up 2.18. The Friday gain was not enough to erase the three earlier losses and the Dow closed the week down 5.95 at 1,027.24.

Analysts attributed the market's malaise to a variety of factors: technical adjustment following the sustained autumn advance, year-end tax-loss selling and portfolio readjustment and pre-holiday doldrums.

VOLUME OFF

Declines for the week swamped advances on the NYSE, 1,204 to 593, but 170 new yearly highs were set against 43 new yearly lows. Volume slipped to 87.05 million shares, down from the 93.48 million the previous week.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks slipped 38 to 64.63 on the week, while the Standard and Poor's index fell .60 to 118.26. The Associated Press stock average dipped 2.3 to 346.6.

Of the 25 most active stocks on the NYSE, 18 registered declines, six posted gains and one remained steady.

Airline issues suffered stiff setbacks following the failure of international carriers to agree on a fare structure for transatlantic flights. Two airlines most imperiled by a price war took nosedives. Pan American World Airways dropped 1 1/4 to $9 1/4 and Trans World Airlines fell 3/4 to $44 1/4. Other carriers that took beatings included American, off 2 1/4 to $26 1/4 and Braniff, down 1 1/4 to $15 1/4.

Xerox, which was accused by the Federal Trade Commission of monopolizing the office copier field, finished the week down 5 1/4 at $149 1/4. International Telephone and Telegraph, which was actively traded after it named a successor to chairman Harold Geneen, closed steady at $80.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price change index finished the week down .25 at 26.53. The most active issues included Champion Home Builders, off 1 at $14 1/4, Forest City, down 2 at $12 and TWA warrants, down 2 1/2 at $26 1/4.

New Source Of Power Sighted

TULLAHOOMA, Tenn. (Reuter) — One of the unexpected results of cuts in funds for U.S. space research could be a new, cheap, and clean way of producing electricity.

Because of the budget reductions, the University of Tennessee space institute has shifted emphasis from aerospace work to trying to find an economical method of generating electrical power.

The method that is exciting professors and graduate students here—and introducing a new word into their vocabulary—is "magneto-hydrodynamics" or MHD.

In MHD, energy is generated by passing electrons from the gas of coal or coal products through an electro-magnetic field. The generator is powered by this "ionized gas."

MHD, whose aerospace applications only have been explored here, is about 60 per cent more efficient than conventional generating methods.

Dr. Lloyd Crawford, a principal investigator in MHD power generation here, said that if making electricity from coal can be developed economically on a large, commercial scale, there would be two immediate benefits.

First, more electrical power would be drained from coal or oil with MHD, thus cutting the amount of pollution by-products that go into the air with conventional methods; and second, the amount of heat would be reduced, thus decreasing substantially the amount of "hot" water poured back into a river after use.

Cuba Wipes Out Christmas Toys

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has officially abolished Christmas. A new policy announced Monday established July 6 as Children's Day, when presents are to be exchanged, thus freeing workers for winter sugar harvests. Jan. 6, when the Day of the Three Kings generally is celebrated in Catholic countries, will be the last time children will receive toys on that date.

40 Year Drought Ends; Steelers Take Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"It took a long time, but we finally did it," said Art Rooney, only owner Pittsburgh Steelers have ever had.

The Steelers "finally" won their first National Football League title Sunday in the team's 40-year history.

"It (the wait) was worth it," the white-haired, 71-year-old Rooney said after the Steelers captured the American Football Conference's Central Division title with a 24-2 victory over San Diego Chargers.

The triumph gave the Steelers an 11-3 record, their best ever, and the homefield advantage in the playoffs, which begin next weekend.

The Steelers will entertain Oakland Raiders, AFC West champions, in the opening playoff game Saturday, at 1 p.m. EST.

Three hours later, San Francisco 49ers, champions of the National Football Conference West, will be host to the defending Super Bowl champion, Dallas Cowboys, the NFC's wild-card qualifier.

PLAYOFFS SET
The opening round of the playoffs will be completed next Sunday, with Green Bay Packers, winner in the NFC Central, at Washington Redskins, champions of the NFC East, starting at 12 noon EST, and Cleveland Browns, the AFC's wild-card entry, at Miami Dolphins, the AFC East winner, beginning at 3 p.m. EST.

In other regular-season finales Sunday, Cleveland downed New York Jets 26-10, New York Giants thrashed Dallas 23-3, Buffalo Bills surprised Washington 24-17, Green Bay topped Oakland 20-17, Detroit Lions beat Los Angeles Rams 34-17, Kansas City Chiefs edged Atlanta Falcons 17-14, Cincinnati Bengals overwhelmed Houston Oilers 61-17, Denver Broncos defeated New England Patriots 45-21, and St. Louis Cardinals nipped Philadelphia Eagles 24-22.

On Saturday, Miami completed a perfect season, blanking Baltimore Colts 16-0 and San Francisco 49ers 16-0. Minnesota Vikings were the key to Pittsburgh's triumph. The Steelers forced the Chargers into seven turnovers, kept San Diego in its own territory for the entire first half and held Mike Garrett to five yards rushing.

Francis Harris and John Figueira scored for the Steelers on two-yard runs, and Terry Bradshaw passed 17 yards to Ron Shanklin for another touchdown.

Cleveland's Mike Phipps passed for two touchdowns to Frank Pitts in the Browns' victory over the Jets.

The Giants gained 174 yards on the ground to Dallas' 47, totalling 175 yards passing to the Cowboys' 85 and sacked Dallas five times.

Johnnie U. called it quits.

MIAMI (AP) — No. 10 heard the cheers one last time as he trotted into the Baltimore Coliseum where he had been the No. 1 man for 16 years.

"It brought back tears and memories," said Miami coach Don Shula while watching his former star line up the Colt offense against his Dolphins Saturday in the Orange Bowl.

But the final moment of glory for quarterback John Unitas was short-lived.

Unitas' second pass was intercepted and he went back to the sidelines and watched dejectedly as the Dolphins whipped the once-mighty Colts 16-0. With the victory, Miami ended its season at 14-0, best ever in the National Football League.

For the quarterback known to millions of fans as Johnny U., it was a sour finale to a career in which he passed for more touchdowns, 287, and more distance, nearly 22 miles, than any quarterback in NFL history.

quarterbacks five times. Norm Snead passed for two New York touchdowns and Pete Gogolak kicked three field goals.

The Green Bay-New Orleans game was unusual in that the first three touchdowns resulted either directly or indirectly from blocked field goals and a blocked punt.

REP RESULTS

Kelowna pup rep hockey club travelled to Castlegar during the weekend and split a pair of games with the host club pup reps.

Saturday the locals were on the bottom of a 2-2 score but came back Sunday to defeat the hometowners 6-3.

Saturday's loss was the first for the Kelowna reps in their past eight games. The club was slightly handicapped going into the game as three members were unable to play due to injuries. Kelowna pup rep coach, Montie Cordingley, feels his club just didn't have a good day and the Castlegar club took advantage of it to register the win.

Scoring for Kelowna Saturday were Randy Endo and Jay Corrado. George Curran picked up an assist.

But, it was a different story in Sunday's game as Kelowna found their legs and overcame a 2-1 deficit after the first period to earn the win.

Quinn Weninger led the Kelowna club with three goals, with Robbie Sebastian having two. Ricky Bigler had a single to round out the scoring.

Kelowna remains in second spot of the Okanagan Mainline minor hockey pup league with North Kamloops holding down first place. Merritt, Vernon and Kamloops follow in that order.

The Kelowna reps have a pair of league games this weekend, both being played in Summerland. Friday, Merritt will be the visiting club, while Saturday will be Kamloops. Both games start at 8 p.m.

The Kelowna pee-wee reps strengthened their unbeaten record in league play to eight Sunday as they bombed the Enderby pee-wee reps 23-1 in Enderby.

Darren Mathison, who was just recently switched from left wing to the right side, showed he's starting to adjust as he had a field day popping in six goals. Bruce Bullen also scored at random as he beat the Enderby goaltender five times.

Allan Knutson, who is regularly on the defence, had to be switched to left wing by coach Fort McNally because of injuries, and the rear guard came up with a superb game, scoring four goals.

Tim Turner and Richard Gerlach had a pair of goals each for Kelowna, while singles were scored by Roger Wolfe, Russell Naito, Ryan Naka and Mike Wolfe.

The Kelowna club's next league game isn't until Jan. 7, but Sunday will host the Kamloops pee-wee reps Friday in an exhibition game at 12:30 p.m. in Memorial Arena.

Rutland Loses In Tourney

The visiting Kamloops Red Devils overpowered the Rutland Voodoos 59-45 in the final Saturday to win the Rutland senior AA boys' basketball tournament held during the weekend.

The Red Devils had the edge on the host club throughout the contest as they held period leads of 18-12, 28-22 and 40-33.

In the consolation game before the final, Kitsilano defeated Castlegar 49-42.

A. Chapelle was the big gun for Kamloops as he popped in 22 points to lead all scorers. Other top point getters for the Red Devils were A. McLean with 11, K. Miller with nine points and M. Ledoux with eight.

Murphy played a strong game for Rutland scoring 19 points while H. Grub and B. Shindel had 14 and six points respectively.

In the consolation game, J. Solceki was Kitsilano's big gun as he turned in a 16-point performance. C. Lynch wasn't far behind as he pumped in 14 points while A. Spicer had eight.

L. Gordon was a standout for Castlegar as he contributed 23 points in a losing cause. R. Baff helped out with eight points while M. Mills had six.

Hustle Helps Rockets To Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Character, desire and hustle combined Sunday night to help Houston Rockets wipe out a 28-point deficit in the third period and give them a 110-109 National Basketball Association victory over Cleveland Cavaliers.

The Rockets stormed back behind Jack Marin and Mike Newlin. Three baskets by Marin, who scored 35 points overall, cut the lead to 93-80 at the end of three quarters.

The Rockets finally tied the Cavaliers on Newlin's layup with 3:27 to go that made the score 102-102.

Marin's shot with 1:58 remaining gave Houston the lead for good.

In the other games Sunday, the Rockets beat Kansas City-Omaha Kings 112-102 and Boston Celtics walloped Seattle SuperSonics 123-98.

In Saturday night's games, New York Knicks beat Chicago Bulls 97-83, Buffalo Braves walloped Philadelphia 76ers 126-103, Atlanta Hawks topped Cleveland 100-94, Houston turned back Detroit Pistons 123-112, Boston beat Portland Trail Blazers 123-116 and Baltimore Bullets defeated Golden State Warriors 105-99.

Two Local Rinks Qualify For Final

Two Kelowna rinks qualified during the weekend for the Molson Broom curling finals to be held in Kelowna Jan. 6-7.

The Doug Hannan and Lyall Dagg rinks travelled to Osoyoos and Oliver, with nine other rinks from the Kelowna curling club, to determine who would represent zone three in the finals.

The Hannan rink defeated the Armstrong rink, of Oliver, to win the A event while the Dagg foursome defeated the Gary Thompson rink from Osoyoos to take the B event.

Lights Go Out On Bucks Losing Streak Continues

Bellingham 10 Kelowna 8

Kelowna Buckaroos continue to slide downhill as they dropped their fifth straight B.C. Junior A hockey game Saturday in Kelowna.

The Buckaroos were outpointed by the Bellingham Blazers in a scoring marathon that saw 18 goals scored in what was possibly the sloppiest hockey game to be played in the Memorial Arena, thus far this season.

The win was only the second for the hapless Blazers, who occupy the cellar in the coast division of the BCJHL. Buckaroos continue to hold down third place in the interior division, eight points behind second place Kamloops Rockets.

The Bellingham club held a 2-1 lead after 20 minutes of play in Saturday's game. The Buckaroos came back and outscored the visitors 5-3 in the second to hold a 6-5 edge after two periods of play.

Leading the Blazers were Doug Davies with a hat-trick. Dave Robinson, Dwayne Monteith and Ric Prier had a pair of goals each, while Mark Arnett's single goal rounded out the Bellingham scoring.

Phil Blake, one of only a handful of Buckaroos who played sharp when on the ice, led his club with a three-goal performance. Blair Chapman and Tad Campbell had two goals apiece, with Kelowna's eighth goal coming from Brad Owens.

Buckaroos, although managing to keep close to the Blazers in the scoring department, were disorganized and even lazy at times when it came to their defensive play. The Kelowna defence let Bellingham forwards either skate right around them or left them parked at their leisure in front of netminder Doug Morgan. Morgan didn't have much luck either as he played his weakest game of the year, stopping 38 Blazer shots.

At the other end of the rink, Bellingham goaltender Calvin Erickson, played a strong, and at some times brilliant, game, as he kept out 54 of the Buckaroos shots.

To make things worse for the fans, a malfunction in the arena's electrical system left the building with only two thirds of its usual power. As a result the game wasn't started until 9 p.m. and was delayed after the first period of play for 30 minutes.

Only 13 penalties were called in the contest, with eight going to Kelowna. Included were fighting majors to the Bucks' Archie McKinnon and the Blazers' Jerry Hopfee.

Buckaroos have a rough weekend ahead of them as they take

In other weekend action in the BCJHL, Nanaimo Clippers edged closer to the coast division 'top spot' by downing Vernon Essos 3-2, Kamloops Rockets beat Bellingham 5-2 and Chilliwack Bruins crushed Vernon 7-3.

In Nanaimo Sunday, the Clippers outshot Vernon 42-24 and stayed within one point of first place Chilliwack in coast standings.

Nanaimo took a 3-1 second period lead after a 1-1 tie after the first 20 minutes of play. Dave Martens, Jim Van Camp

Vernon outshot Chilliwack 42-30.

Time 'Just Running Out' For Trudeau's Regime

OTTAWA (CP) — The way Conservative House Leader Gerald W. Baldwin sees it, there is no way the Trudeau government will remain in office more than a few months. "You're sitting there," he said in an interview, "that we will be asked to form a government." The Liberals, with 109 seats compared with 107 for the Conservatives, must depend on support from the 31-member New Democratic Party to survive Commons votes. NDP Leader David Lewis has said he will support "progressive legislation," but Mr. Baldwin thinks the crunch will come before there is much opportunity to vote on legislation. "If, as I think, the throne speech is followed by a new budget, we will have seven or eight confidence motions in the first three weeks of the session. "And if Lewis votes with Trudeau on all of these, he's going to look sick. His people won't stand for it." The Conservatives will be moving a non-confidence motion against the government on the first day of the throne speech debate, and the plan is to make it short and simple so the NDP can find no technical reasons to oppose it. The motion has not been framed yet, but some Conservatives are proposing that it be a one-liner condemning the government for its handling of unemployment or the economy.

Spectacular Monopoly Charge Top Business Topic Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — A spectacular monopoly charge and a drastic change in the rate structure of the airline industry were among the major happenings during an eventful week in business last week. The Federal Trade Commission charged Tuesday that Xerox Corp. monopolizes the office copier machine market through its patent and leasing practices and through its control of Rank-Xerox, a European copier machine firm. Xerox, one of the leading growth companies of the 1960s, promptly denied the allegations. Its chairman, Peter McCollough, said the FTC charges were really an attack on the patent system itself — "the concept that an inventor should be awarded exclusive rights to his invention for a period of time." Three developments came in rapid succession to throw the airline industry into a state of uncertainty and cause some sagging of airline stocks. Monday, Trans World Airlines, gambling that passengers would rather save money than linger in coach lounges, moved to cut out the lounges on New York-to-Los Angeles flights and slashed fares $10.

AIR FARES CUT
Wednesday, international negotiations on transatlantic fares collapsed, with the result that starting in February foreign and U.S. airlines will be able to charge any fare they choose on transatlantic flights. The United States generally had been pushing for higher fares and the European carriers for lower ones.

Thursday, United Air Lines appealed to the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to lower its fares on transcontinental U.S. flights to $129, providing a 25-per-cent down payment is made 90 days in advance.

Alleged misconduct lived up to the brokerage news. An Oppenheimer and Co. analyst was fired after it had an option to order. Grumman claimed its aerospace division would lose money if it delivered the planes at the agreed price and that it would have to fold.

—Harold Geneen, 62-year-old chairman and president of International Telephone and Telegraph, seemed to relinquish a bit of the iron control he has exercised over the conglomerate's operations. The ITT board appointed Francis Dunleavy, 58, as president.

AGE NO BARRIER FOR THIS COUPLE

CASALE MONFERRATO, Italy (AP) — A 72-year-old actress has married a 30-year-old poet and painter who pledged to make her happy.

The bride was Paola Borboni, who in 1922 shocked an Italian audience by marrying her bosom in a comedy. The bridegroom was Bruno Vilar.

It was the first marriage for both. She said she decided to marry "because of the pressing solicitations of Bruno and because my mother did not like our living together without marriage." Miss Borboni's mother is 102.

COPENHAGEN (Reuter) — Santa Claus regrets that he will not be answering letters from children this year. Tens of thousands of letters to Santa were addressed to Greenland, a Danish province.

The bidding:

South Pass 4NT Pass 5♦
West Pass 4NT Pass 5♦
North Pass 4NT Pass 5♦

Opening lead - eight of clubs. This deal occurred in the match between Italy and Australia during the 1968 World Bridge Olympiad.

At the first table, with Australia North - South, the Italian

East - West pair got to five diamonds doubled and South led his singleton club. North won with the ace and returned a club, which South ruffed, and North later scored two trump tricks to put declarer down three and score 500 points for Australia.

At the second table, with Italy now North-South, the bidding went:

West led the king of clubs and Forquet, playing with Ganzo, had to find a way of avoiding a trump loser on top of the three spades he had to lose. This he proceeded to do - despite East's four trumps to the queen - by winning the club with the ace and commencing a trump-shortening process by ruffing a club at trick two.

Forquet then led a heart to the ace, returned the nine from dummy, which held, and ruffed another club. Next he played a diamond to the queen, the finesse succeeding, and cashed the ace of diamonds before ruffing dummy's last club.

By this time Forquet had won the first eight tricks and was left with the 10-4-3 of spades and K-J of trumps. He exited with a spade and could not be stopped from scoring two more trump tricks, so the outcome was that Italy scored 590 points and showed an unresounding but clear profit of 90 points on the deal.

FURS FOUND

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Kermit Anderson of Litchfield found enough furs Wednesday to keep him warm through several Minnesota winters, and authorities now are looking for the owners. The sheriff's office theorizes the $10,000 worth of mink pelts were blown off a truck.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Needs Ear Surgery But She's Scared

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, 17, was told by an ear specialist that she has a perforated ear drum and the only thing that would correct it is an operation.

A test shows some loss of hearing in that ear. The ear frequently becomes infected and at times drains. However, she has no pain.

She is very upset about having this operation, so would you please explain what they do and whether it is painful? Is it a common operation? Is an operation at this point the only solution? Will the ear become worse as she gets older or will the hole heal over by itself?

I don't see what your daughter's objection is unless, simply, afraid it will hurt. She should realize that an anesthetic will be used, so she will not feel anything.

A perforated ear drum sometimes heals spontaneously, and if it happens to heal smoothly, that's fine. But in her case it is safe to predict that the drum never is going to heal, and the reason for this prediction is that she has these recurring bouts of infection. They will prevent healing; meantime, the perforation of the ear drum is an invitation to further infection.

Surgical repair is not at all unusual for such a situation, and a small tissue graft is commonly used to close the perforation.

Already the infection has damaged the middle ear enough to cause some hearing loss. What you—and she—can expect is additional loss of hearing as infection continues. It is, indeed, possible that the infection might spread to other areas, for instance the mastoid region.

She has so much to gain by having ear surgery, and so much to lose if she doesn't, that I cannot see why she hesitates. There is no reason to be afraid of being hurt.

Perhaps if she asked the ear specialist point blank, "How much pain will there be?" and he says, "You won't feel anything," that will put an end to her fears.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I like apples and eat three or four a day, but have been worried lately because of the poison sprays I read about. I rinse the apples in cold water but wonder if that is enough.

Yes, that's enough.

As A Pickpocket He's Not Too Good

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter Dimitri, 60, was held on $10,000 bail here after his 11th arrest for pickpocketing. The prosecutor told the court Dimitri was first arrested "before this assistant district attorney was born," and Dimitri's court-appointed lawyer John Marotta remarked: "As your honor can see, he's not very good at what he does."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, DEC. 19

Aries (March 21-April 19): After all the trouble you've taken to get the facts, you still have to use your head and put things together.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Pitch in with an extra effort; volunteer if that is the only way you can get in on the main action. Overtime is okay, too.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): When business and traffic get into snails and slow down, have something with you that you can work on or amuse yourself with.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Now comes a day which is in effect an obstacle challenging your ability to get through surprise hindrances. Avoid late starts.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Some new ideas work! Before judging a friend, get the other side of the story. His doings may have their reasons or excuses.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Planning goes well. Take time to search out neglected connections. It's also a fine day for putting household situations to rights.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Developing contacts are likely to produce challenges, more contacts, and opposing ideas to reconcile with those you already hold.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Don't go it alone today. Disagree if you must, but remain free to move in any direction the situation may require.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Close friends butt in with their own ideas of what you need or want done. Results can range from interesting to chaotic.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): What you do today may help somebody beyond yourself. It also has to be consistent with your current resources and life style.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Sensible discussion clears many potential barriers before you get near them. Diversions are to be shared, too.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Recent stresses should not be allowed to shake your faith in your intuition. The right move might seem inadequate or too late.

A Christmas Message From Eliot's Poetry

By BETHEL STEELE

My heart is like a singing bird for it is Christmas time again and this year it is something special that only the heart knows and feels.

I am a Kipling fan and so too does the poetry of T. S. Eliot speak to me. And then this year has been added the lovely prose poetry fantasy-myth of Richard Bach's . . . Jonathan Livingston Seagull.

Every year at this time Kipling's L'Envoi to "The Seven Seas" . . . "When Earth's Last Picture is Painted" comes freshly down the stretches of time. It belongs to that poetic world of Kipling's as separated from his ballads and rhymes. It ushers in Eliot's The Waste Land and now Jonathan Seagull. It has the Christmas message of "Birth" whether one believes in reincarnation or the tenets of Christianity.

Today . . . this year more than ever before it is pertinent . . . because of man's conquest of inner space . . . and the prophesy of his conquest of those outer reaches far beyond the moon.

Eliot, in part V of The Waste Land . . . What the Thunder Said . . . asks . . . "Who is the third who walks always beside you? When I count, there are only you and I together. But when I look ahead up the white road/ There is always another one walking beside you/ Gliding wrapt in a brown mantle, hooded/ I do not know whether a man or a woman—But who is that on the other side of you?"

It is left for each one of us to relate in our own way to those lines just as each one of us relates to the music we hear.

And then we are told in the Seagull fantasy how the two gulls appeared to Jonathan after he had found that when one gave up boredom, fear and anger one lived a long fine life. They came in the evening at his wings when he was old . . . they were pure as starlight and they told him he could lift his old body higher . . . for he had learned . . . One school is finished and the time has come for another to begin . . . it was time to go home.

And so at this time of the celebration of the birthday of the Christ Child we are all one year farther along that journey which is begun at birth and which, according to our awareness, can be beautiful or it can be a heart-breaking part of man's search for himself . . .

"When Earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dried, When the oldest colours have faded, and the youngest critic has died, We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it—lie down for an hour or two, Till the Master of All Good Workmen shall put us to work anew/ And those that were good shall be happy: they shall sit in a golden chair; They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comet's hair; They shall find real saints to draw from—Magdalene, Peter and Paul; They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all! And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame; And no one shall work for money and no one shall work for fame; But each for the joy of working and each in his separate star; Shall draw the Thing as he sees It for the God of Things as They are!"

A Happy Christmas to one and all and if it's music any of you are wondering about . . . The CBC Christmas Messiah is due again . . . tune into Pentecost if it doesn't come here. You might all phone the local station . . . I am sure they will be pleased to co-operate.

Oh yes, a nice Christmas present from the offices concerned, of the new government, promising support for my letter column to Premier Barrett. We may get some subsidized music and theatre yet. But you must keep writing.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

RUTLAND (Staff) — About 45 shut-in and handicapped people got a Christmas present Thursday night—turkey and all the trimmings, plus a visit from Santa.

The Kelowna Capri East Rotary Club entertained people from homes and the extended care unit of Kelowna General Hospital in the Centennial Hall. It is hoped to make this an annual program for people who might otherwise not get home-cooked meals during the festivities.

Supper was cooked by the Rotary Anns, wives of club members. Santa, in reality Tommy Milnes, had a gift for each guest. A spy reports he kissed female guests! Bingo games closed the evening.

Elaine Wainman and Jack Andrew played organ music. Dr. Grahame Thorkelson was in charge of the program, and his wife supervised catering. Some guests were in wheelchairs, and there were two aged

Oyama Boy Scouts Choose New Chairman For 1973

OYAMA (Special) — M. Hilton Winn is the new chairman of the Oyama Boy Scouts Group Committee. He was elected at the annual meeting held in the Oyama Community Hall on Dec. 13.

Retiring chairman Bill Codre, presided over the meeting which saw Dave Ley elected secretary and Mrs. Hilton Winn, treasurer.

This year's committee consists of Mrs. Jack Williamson, Dan Shumay, N. W. Sproule and R. C. Rolfsen.

Ewan MacInnes, Scoutmaster, reported that the scouts had taken part in the Scout and Cub Ice Stampede, camp-outs at Cedar Swamp, bottle drives and Apple Day. They attended the Scout and Guides Own Service on Feb. 20, the Father-Son Banquet on March 4, and the Memorial Day Service on Nov. 11. They travelled to Vernon on March 28, to attend a wild life film and took part in a Scout Camporee near Lavington in June.

On Aug. 23, Scouts Chris Workman, Bruce Shumay, Brent Bertholm, Gary Dewar, George Elliot, Ted Boynton, Gary Gatzke and Terry Kenny with leaders Mr. MacInnes, Bill Maloney and Jim Green flew in to Peters Lake for five days of camping and hiking. On Aug. 27 they hiked out 15 miles to Sugar Lake where they were picked up by their parents.

Cubmaster Nigel Hughes reported that the cubs had taken part in outdoor rambles, star and badge work, Scouts and Guides own, the Father-Son Banquet and Memorial Day services. They travelled to Vernon for the Ice Stampede, Apple Day and the wild life film. On their final meeting before the summer break RCMP Const. Leslie spoke to the boys about bike safety.

Arnold Trewitt, Venturer Advisor introduced his new assistant Dan Shumay. The venturers helped keep things running smoothly at the ice stampede. They took part in apple day and bottle drives. Their current project is cleaning up their future campsite at Round Lake.

The meeting extended thanks to Arnold Trewitt, Dan Shumay and all the people involved in the recent very successful bottle drive.

Mr. Trewitt then showed slides of the Peters Lake area and the hiking trip out.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

RUTLAND (Staff) — A contemporary preparation for Christmas will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Rutland United Church.

The 12 Days of Christmas is nothing like the old song. Rather, it is a combination of readings and songs compiled by Rev. and Mrs. T. B. Jones, presented with visual and sound aids. It was presented last year in Canmore, Alta., where Mr. and Mrs. Jones previously served.

Participating will be Mrs. Bruno Guidi, Mrs. Jones, Valda Roberts, Ken Angus, Rev. Darryl Auten and Mrs. Colin Day. Mr. Auten is on the staff of the Centre for Continuing Education at Naramata. Mr. Jones, Vera Erickson and John Bubb will look after the audio and visual work.

bring the executive to the required 10 members, and Arvid Johnson was asked to represent the association at the senior council set up to represent the entire area. A meeting of this council is scheduled for mid-January, and will be held in Kelowna.
